

Press Release

03/2021

“It is important to realise that groundwater makes a global difference in terms of material fluxes. Now that we have this large data set, these fluxes can also be further improved through more sampling and more precise models for global groundwater discharge can be developed”, Professor Eisenhauer concludes.

Reference:

Mayfield, K. K., A. Eisenhauer, D. P. Santiago Ramos, J. A. Higgins, T. J. Horner, M. Auro, T. Magna,