characteristics. SOOP also has the potential to support stakeholders from low-income countries and indigenous communities, partly through the development of open-source hardware and software. In