

Press Release

emphasized that it is particularly important that female scientists form a network where everyone knows each other. Lee, who has also spent a sabbatical year in Bremen, says: "In Germany it is much more difficult for a woman to pursue a career in science than in America."

Following the public portion of the lecture, participating women met for a closed get-together. This provided an opportunity to discuss career paths and